DETAILED ACTION

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

- I. Claims 1-9, drawn to a product (neutron absorbing basket), classified in class 376, subclass 272.
- II. Claims 10-13, drawn to process (manufacturing neutron absorber), classified in class 75, subclass 249.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

The inventions listed as Groups I, II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The general inventive concept as set forth in the claims, for example, claim 10 does not define over the teachings in the prior art, e.g., the combination of Roczyn (U.S. 4,631,236) and Sakaguchi (U.S. 6,602,314).

2. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

- A. The species of the aluminum alloy of the body portion are as follows:
 - A1: Wherein the aluminum alloy of the body portion contains boron.
 - A2: Wherein the aluminum alloy of the body portion contains a boron compound.

Art Unit: 3663

B. The species of additional elements comprising the aluminum alloy of the body portion represented by the Markush group of elements (e.g., see claim 4).

C. The species of additional elements comprising the aluminum alloy of the surface layer portion represented by the Markush group of elements (e.g., see claim 5).

D. The species of the manner the neutron absorber is obtained are as follows:

D1: Wherein the neutron absorber is obtained through extrusion.

D2: Wherein the neutron absorber is obtained through rolling

E: The species of how the pressed compact is formed are as follows:

E1: Wherein the compact formation is by cold isostatic pressing.

E2: Wherein the compact formation is by cold pressing.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species for each of A, B, C, D, and E above to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: claim 1 is generic to Group I and claim 10 is generic to Group II.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The special technical feature of species A1 is being a single element (boron), while the special technical feature of species B is the inclusion other element(s) to boron. Since the special technical feature of species A is not present in the claims drawn to species B, and the special technical feature of species B is not present in the claims drawn to species A, unity of invention is lacking. An analogous argument can be made with regard to species B, C, D, and E.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
